Sample Complaints Filed Against Lrumar Publications

Lrumar Publications - False Advertising for $56.00 on 02/23/2011

This young girl in her twenties came to my door and was selling magazines. Like most complaints she was trying to earn points to go on a trip to Europe and only needed so many to reach her goal. I have ordered magazines through a DIFFERENT company and received my magazines, so I guess I didn't really think much about it. However, this was eight months ago and I have yet to receive anything. So I researched them and was shocked to see the complaints and I tried the number on the website and could not leave a message as it was full. The scary part is that they have all my financial information on that check. Luckily, I monitor my account and have yet to see any fraudulent activity but please know I will be changing my account information immediatly. I also let this girl in my house to use the restroom. I'm just disappointed and will NEVER order anything again from a door-to-door salesperson.

Lrumar Publications - False Advertising for $58.00 on 06/08/2011

Door to door magazine subscription sales. Bought one, have received nothing. No response from their answering machine customer service line.

Lrumar Publications - False Advertising for $51.00 on 02/09/2011

Back in February a young man came to my home, claiming that he was selling magazines or taking donations so that he could go to Spain. He said he was a part of a group that sends kids to different countries so that they can perform in different types of sports like BMX bike riding and trick skateboarding. He laid on the charm pretty strong. I like to try and help different organizations when I can, so I wrote him a check for a magazine subscription. He told me I should receive my magazines soon after. Well here it is 8 months later and no magazines. After talking with a co-worker today, I learned the same group of kids sold a subscription to her but instead they said they were selling for a speech tournament. The way she described the kid that came to her house lead me to believe it was the same person that came to mine.
